Fly Away Home

Touching, beautiful family fare that is sentimental without being treacly. Transported to rural Ontario from New Zealand after her mother dies in a car accident, Amy Alden (Paquin) reunites with her eccentric sculptor/inventor father, Thomas Alden (Daniels). Amy finds an outlet for her grief when a development project threatens the nesting place of Canadian geese. She rescues the eggs and tends to them until they hatch, finding resourceful ways to incubate them. When the eggs hatch and produce healthy geese, Amy and her father realize that the birds will need help flying south for the winter. Thomas designs an ultralight plane so Amy can lead the journey. Off they go on an enchanting adventure...
